My parents have always loved everything about India, so a year ago we went on holiday there.

It's a wonderful town with beautiful scenes and interesting people. However, I didn't enjoy Indian food very much.

On the second day we planned to see an old palace. At the airport they said. "If you go by train, it'll take you only two hours to get there." However, the hot train took over four hours. I was very hungry when we got there, so we had some rice and vegetables with bread in a small restaurant. We were surprised to find it was quite nice. I wasn't full up though and I saw a man nearby eating some little meatballs.

I said to my dad, "I've been eating rice all week. Can I have some meatballs please?" Well, they looked delicious so I ate the first one very quickly. I was just putting the second one in my mouth when I felt myself burning — my mouth was on fire! I started to cough (咳嗽) and there were tears (泪水) in my eyes. I couldn't believe how spicy (辛辣的) it was! I drank about ten glasses of water but the worst thing was everyone was laughing at me. You couldn't make me eat another Indian meatball for all the money in the world!

C Aunt Polly had told Tom to paint the whole fence (栅栏) in front of the house. He thought of the other boys out for the day enjoying themselves and he felt very unhappy. Then he had an idea! He picked up the brush and started painting slowly and carefully. Soon, his friend Ben Rogers appeared, eating an apple. Tom pretended (假装) not to see him. "Tom!" Ben said. "Why are you working?" "Oh, it's you, Ben," Tom said, "I didn't notice you." "I'm going for a swim," Ben said, "but you don't want to come. You want to work, don't you? It's much nicer!" Ben laughed loudly. Tom looked seriously at Ben and said. "What is work? What do you call work?" "Isn't that work?" Ben asked. "Well, no. Does a boy get the opportunity to paint a fence every day? You've never painted a fence, have you? Auntie says I have to do it with great care!" "Please, Tom. Let me do a little," said Ben. "No, Ben. If you do, you'll do it wrong. You can't paint very well. If it was the back fence wouldn't mind, but it isn't." "I won't do it wrong. I'll be really careful. I'll give you my apple." Tom gave him the brush and paint with a sad face, but in his heart he was glad, His trick had worked.

After Ben got tired and left, other boys came along and Tom said the same things to them. Soon, the whole fence was painted white, but not by Tom. He felt very clever because he had discovered something important about the way people are. People only want what they can't have or want to do what they shouldn't do.

31. Which of the following has the closest meaning to the underlined word "opportunity" on this passage?

- A. Reward B. Interest. C. Ability. D. Chance.

32. Why did Tom pretend not to see Ben?

- A. Because he wanted Ben to believe that he was enjoying the work.

- B. Because he would like to try his best to attract Ben' s attention.
- C. Because he did not want Ben to see the fact that he had to work.
- D. Because he was afraid that Ben might laugh at him if he saw him.

33. What can we infer (推断) from the story?

- A. Aunt Polly gave Tom a lot of pocket money for what he had done.
- B. Ben and the other boys might feel unhappy when they found out the truth.
- C. Tom believed that he had discovered how to deal with different people.
- D. Everyone thought Tom clever when they realized what had happened.

D

Everything that humans hear is in the form of waves (波). Just as the eye sees light waves in the form of colors, the ear and the eye turn these different waves into signals that the brain (大脑) can make sense of. The ears and brain have an amazing ability to recognize (识别) particular sounds. For example, a mother often can tell when her baby is crying even if there are other crying babies in the same room. This is because the sound of her baby' s cry has special meaning to her and the brain has recorded its importance. The ability to recognize sounds improves with experiences. As the brain receives information about sounds from day to day, it stores the information in its memory. When the brain hears new sounds, it gives meaning to them based on the information already in the memory. This is why certain words or songs can make a person happy. Often it is not the words or songs themselves that cause this feeling. The sounds are connected to happy memories for that person. After hearing, the process controlled by the brain is to decide where a sound is coming from. One ear is usually closer to the source (来源) of a sound than the other ear is. Sound waves are stronger when they reach the ear that is closer. They also reach the closer ear first. The brain recognizes these differences and uses them to decide the location of the source of the sound.

34. Which of the following shows the normal hearing process of a mother hearing her baby crying?

- a. The ears receive the sound waves.
- b. The mother recognizes her baby' s cry.
- c. The ears turn the sound waves into signals.
- d. The baby' s cry travels in the form of sound waves.
- e. The brain connects the signals to the information in the memory.

A. d-a-c-b-e

B. d-a-c-e-b

C. a-d-c-b-e

D. a-d-c-e-b

35. Certain words or songs can change a person' s moods mainly because of his

A. lifestyle

B. personality

C. experiences

D. hobbies

36. According to the passage, it will be the most difficult for a person who has lost the hearing in one ear to tell

A. where the source of a sound is

B. how loud a sound is

C. when a sound starts to appear

D. what makes a sound

37. What is the best title for this passage?

A. Human Brain' s Amazing Facts

B. Human Hearing Characteristics

C. How to improve Hearing

D. How Do Humans Hear

【答案】 One possible version:

Our school Drama Club is holding a film activity. We saw Life of Pi last week. It is directed by Ang Lee. And he gets the Best Director Award for it. The film is about the story of a young man called Pi. He takes a boat trip alone. He not only has to deal with difficult weather conditions but also needs to find enough food for himself. And at last he comes back home safely.

Many people think Life of Pi is one of the year's best films. It tells us we should be brave enough to face any problem and find ways to solve them. We are heroes of ourselves.
